

Matt Damon's slam-dunk defense of teachers (watch it to the end!)

This video is hilarious and teachers everywhere will be walking a little taller today.

But there's an important lesson for actors here as well. Do you see what it is? Here's a hint: the reporter has a simplistic understanding of motivation. Damon has, you know, an actor's understanding of it. Any questions?